PRICE THREE CENTS

JUDGE SHEELY ISSUES RULE IN $25,000 ACTION

One Defendant Seeks To Have Service of Papers in Case Set Aside.

DECLARES THEY WERE "FAULTY"

A rule was issued by Judge W. C. Sheely in Adams county court this morning on J. N. O'Boyle, Sunbury, to show cause why the service of papers on Maurice Bowers, Em-porium, Pa., formerly of York Springs, as an additional defendant in a $25,000 damage suit in which O'Boyle and M. P. Gaglione, also of Sunbury, are original defendants, should not be set aside.

The rule was made returnable March 28, until the rule is finally disposed of all proceedings in the case are stayed.

After C. M. Boyer, York Springs postmaster, had filed a $25,000 damage action against the two Sunbury residents for serious injuries he received in an auto accident in the square in East Berlin early on the morning of February 13, 1934, Mr. O'Boyle attempted to bring Bowers into the suit on a writ of scire facias issued out of the Adams county prothonotary's office.

Verdict Set Aside
Bowers was the driver of a car in which Boyer was riding when it was struck by a truck owned by the two Sunbury men.

Bowers, through his attorneys, Keith and Bigham, claims that the writ served upon him early last month by the Cameron county sheriff was defective in that it asked a date, the signature of the presiding judge, and the name of the Adams county prothonotary. Because of these imperfections, the court is asked to set aside service of the alleged faulty paper. Bowers' attorneys claim that no "true and attested copy of the writ was ever served."

Following the accident Bowers sued the Sunbury men and received a verdict of $12,000 from a jury late in 1934. Last December the verdict was set aside by former Judge Donald P. McPherson. Final disposition of that suit now lies with the state supreme court.

Chicago Loses One Hour Forever

Chicago, March 2 (AP).—An hour of sleep lost—and never to be regained—was the only general effect noted with the change Sunday from Central to Eastern standard time.

The advanced time became official for the city under a council ordinance at 2 a. m.

The new plain supercedes a daylight-saving time which annually went into effect here in April and terminated in October.

4 ARE INJURED IN THREE MINOR AUTO ACCIDENTS

One Vehicle, Skids on Ice, Upsets and Lands On Top Sunday Evening.

OTHER MISHAPS ARE REPORTED

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Arnold, Mechanicsburg, escaped unhurt when their automobile overturned Sunday evening about 6 o'clock on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road, a mile north of Schriver's crossing.

Mr. Arnold, 54, was driving north when his car skidded on the icy road. The Mechanicsburg car, out of control, skidded to the left side of the road, where it struck a snow bank and overturned. It came to rest on its top with the four wheels spinning in the air. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold got out of the car, unhurt.

Before the car could be righted all the oil had drained from the crank-case and it was necessary to have the machine towed to Gettysburg. Actual damage to the machine was placed at $10. The top was slightly damaged and one glass had been broken.

Patrolman G. S. Harleman, of local sub-station investigated the accident.

Asks More Data On Lost Woman

After a hearing in court this morning, Judge W. C. Sheely stated that he would require additional evidence before he would hand down an order of court in the petition of J. Lowery Hill, Highland township, to have his sister, Mary, unheard of since 1916, declared legally dead.

Mr. Hill testified that he last heard from his sister from New York city twenty years ago. She had gone there to study nursing, he testified. She had been in Adams county only twice since 1905, according to Mr. Hill. He said he had no knowledge of her marriage or death but "has every reason to believe that she is dead." He stated that, if living, his sister would be more than 75 years of age.

Earl Moritz, Hamiltonban township, was ordered to pay the costs on a charge of assault and battery.

A decree in divorce was handed down by Judge Sheely in the case of Mildred H. Pershstand vs. John Pershstand. The decree is not effective until costs of the case are paid.

WILL ABANDON ONE CCC CAMP ON FIELD HERE

National Park Service Announces Closing, Effective on April 1.

TELEGRAM SENT TO McCONAGHIE

One of Gettysburg's CCC camps on the battlefield will be abandoned April 1. James R. McConaghie, superintendent of the national park, was informed in a telegram from the National park service, Washington, today.

Abandonment of one of the two camps here, and others throughout the country, is in line with the policy of the Emergency Conservation Work to decrease the number of camps in national, and state parks and state forests in the country, especially in the eastern states.

Announcement of the closing of one of the camps is made prior to the seventh enrollment period of six months, which opens April 1. Which camp will be abandoned was not disclosed to Mr. McConaghie by the park service.

Superintendent McConaghie said this morning he had no further information other than that one of the camps will be abandoned. He said he did not know which camp will be closed. He had no information on the civilian and enrolled personnel of the camp.

Reduce Personnel
The ECW announced several months ago that a number of camps would be abandoned at the close of the sixth enrollment period, March 31. The announcement said that the objective of the CCC had been reached in the main in the country and that the personnel of the camps would be decreased from approximately 500,000 to 300,000.

When the ECW was established the program, as set up under the act, emphasized conservation work. Recently the demand has been to adhere more strictly to straight conservation work. The local CCC enrollees have practically completed all the projects of a conservation nature.

Camp M. P. 1 was the first established here. It opened in June 1933. Captain Francis J. Moran is in command.

E. J. Farrell is the project superintendent. The staff comprises: Edward R. Florence, mechanic; J. Warren Gelwick, blacksmith; non-technical foremen, Rufus Bushman, Charles W. Gardner, George Felix, Francis I. Smith and Francis J. Cole. Kenneth Yohe, planting foreman, Richard Hershey, engineering foreman; William H. Allison, junior historian, and Robert C. Florence, clerk.

Captain Oscar Coble is in command at M. P. 2 which opened in October, 1933, and Howard Diehl is the project superintendent. The staff comprises: Walter Plank, supervising mechanic and Glenn F. Diehl, blacksmith and tool sharpener.

Salary up to $2400

Non-technical foremen include, A. J. Holtzworth, Charles Heilman, Blaine Bixler, Edward Dougherty and Laine L. Lee (colored). Lester Yohe is the chemical foreman and Joseph Hudert is the engineering foreman. Harry B. Cannon is the landscape foreman and Dr. Louis I. King (colored) is the junior historian.

The salary of the staff members ranges from $1,320 to $2,400 per year.

Camp M. P. 2 was originally sent here for the winter of 1933, transferred here from the state of Washington. In the spring of 1934 it was ordered moved but later this order was rescinded when Superintendent McConaghie and others in town urged its continuance here. On two other occasions it was scheduled to be moved but finally retained here.

Mr. McConaghie said that he had ample work to keep enrollees at the two camps busy on the battlefield.

Hold County Man For Code Violation

William Moul, 27, East Berlin, R. 2, was arrested on East King street, Littlestown, Saturday evening at about five o'clock by Officer H. S. Roberts. In an information laid by the Littlestown police chief before Justice of the Peace Howard G. Blocher, Moul is charged with operating a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Moul had been examined by Dr. H. E. Gettler, Littlestown, and declared to be under the influence of liquor.

In default of $500 bail Moul was brought to Gettysburg, where he was committed to the county jail to await a hearing.

SIX CHILDREN, MOTHER BURNED

Destitute Family Lose Lives When Fire Sweeps Little Farmhouse.

Canandaigua, N. Y., March 2 (AP).—Six children died and their mother suffered fatal burns in a fire that swept a farm house Sunday near Rushville, eight miles south of here.

The father and two grandparents also suffered burns and shock.

Mrs. Edgar Arris, 30, mother of the children, died about 6 p. m. in Memorial hospital, 16 hours after the fire. She was critically burned in escaping from the flames.

Her husband, Edgar, 34, also was taken to the hospital with a fractured wrist and severe burns. Mr. and Mrs. George Housel, the grandparents in whose home the Arris family was living, were injured.

The victims were Vina, 11; George, 9; Waneta, 7; Edgar, 5; Harry, 2; and John, 11 months. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Arris.

Arris, also aroused, found flames blocking the stairs and jumped 22 feet out a second-story window, breaking his wrist. He obtained a ladder and dragged Mrs. Arris out, but dropped her half way down the ladder. The fire spread so quickly the children, all asleep on the second floor, were unable to make their escape.

The Arrises went to live with the Housels, Mrs. Arris' parents, early in the winter.

No Idea of Origin

"I took them into my little home to keep them from freezing to death and now they are all burned," moaned Housel.

There was no indication of what started the blaze.

The Arris family until six weeks ago was living in destitute circumstances in nearby Gorham. Mrs. Arris, crippled during childbirth, suffered a frozen leg through exposure. Her father then took the entire family in, although he and his wife, like his daughter's family, were on the relief rolls.

The Housel home, a flimsy 7-room structure, was built four years ago to replace a more elaborate residence destroyed by fire.

Walks in Bare Feet

Housel, sleeping in a downstairs bedroom with his wife, was awakened by the crackle of flames. He roused his wife, pushed her through a window to the ground and jumped through himself.

Mrs. Housel then walked in her bare feet to the home of neighbors half a mile away. They took her in and she was later rushed to the hospital. Arris, after rescuing his wife and trying in vain to extricate his children, hopelessly trapped in their upstairs beds, were forced to stand outside with neighbors, watching the flames.

Early this morning bodies of five of the children, charred beyond recognition, were taken from the ashes, but there was little trace of the infant.

ITALY ROUTS ARMY OF 30,000

Ethiopians Suffer Heaviest Casualties of Engagement In Recent Battle.

With the Northern Italian Army in Ethiopia, at the Front, March 2 (AP).—The Ethiopian army of Ras Kassa in the Tembien area was destroyed Sunday like that of Ras Mulheta was two weeks ago.

Kassa fled with a few followers, leaving the heaviest losses in men, animals and munitions.

Five thousand Ethiopians left in the Tembien area are completely surrounded, but still holding Abbi Addi. They face extermination or necessary surrender as the Third Army Corps of white soldiers and an Eritrean corps pour artillery fire into the town.

Planes are drenching the towns with bombs.

Round Italian estimates placed the Ethiopian dead at 10,000 and the Italian at not over 1000 from a string of severe fights starting the night of February 26.

Ras Kassa was believed to have escaped but to be in headlong flight.

Planes are following the retreating warrior columns across the Gheba and Takaze rivers, bombing them heavily. Italian pilots reported the Ethiopians are throwing away their guns, swords and munitions in order to appear as peasants.

An estimated 30,000 to 40,000 men started an engagement under Ras Kassa Thursday.

(The following dispatch, dated Saturday from Asmara, was received Sunday):

The most dramatic single action of this war came with the storming of the highly important Amba Yark in the northern Tembien area February 27 the same day Arabs Alaji was captured.

A special battalion of mountain climbers, a battalion of grenadiers and an Eritrean corps engaged in an all-day battle with casualties estimated by Italians at 3000 Ethiopians and 500 Fascists.

An epitaph in the Langdale, Alabama cemetery reads: "I have called in to stay all night."

Take Homeless Vet to Hospital

Frank Joseph Holley, homeless World War veteran, who was a patient for several days in a local CCC camp suffering from gangrene, developing after his feet had been frozen, has been removed to the United States Naval Hospital in Philadelphia.

Arrangements for his hospitalization were made by Frank J. Slonaker, service officer of the local post.

Holley, who said he was hitchhiking to a soldiers' home in Erie, arrived at CCC camp No. 1 on the battlefield a week ago. He asked Captain Francis J. Moran, in charge of the camp, that he be given food and requested treatment for his feet, which he said were frozen.

Lieutenant Schiff, physician at the camp, examined Holley and found that gangrene had already set in, in the toes of his right foot. He was treated and confined to the camp hospital.

Holley is the twelfth veteran to secure hospitalization through the Gettysburg Legion service office during the last year.

3 Are Injured

Two persons were injured in an automobile collision at the intersection of the Taneytown and Harney roads, three miles west of Littlestown, Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Preston U. Dehoff, 32, Littlestown R. 4, driver of one of the machines, received lacerations and bruises about the head. His 13-year-old son, Russell, a passenger in the same car, was cut about the head. Both were treated at the office of Dr. H. S. Crouse, Littlestown.

George Washington Hess, 79, Taneytown, was driving south, while Dehoff was proceeding in a westerly direction. Hess is reported to have attempted to cross the intersection ahead of the Dehoff car. The right sides of the machines collided.

Damage to the Hess machine was estimated at $25, while the Dehoff machine was damaged to the extent of about $50.

Patrolman G. S. Harleman, of the local sub-station of the highway patrol, investigated the accident.

Memorial Fund For George V

London (AP).—The question of London's public memorial to George V will soon be raised, it is assured, with possibility that a statue will be erected in some conspicuous place.

It also is regarded likely that part of a memorial fund would be devoted to some philanthropic enterprise. In commemoration of Edward VII the public subscribed nearly $500,000, although no public appeal was made.

PLACE JOBLESS AT 12,626,000

Labor Federation Statement Says Increase Is Highest In Five Years.

Washington, March 2 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor Sunday estimated the number of unemployed in January at 12,626,000 after the greatest increase from December to January in five years.

"To lose ground to such an extent at this time is nothing short of tragic," the Federation said in reporting its survey indicated 1,229,000 persons who had jobs in December lost them in January.

"Unemployment always rises in January, but last year the increase was only 699,000 and the last time there has been an increase approaching that of this year was in January, 1931, when 1,326,000 were added to the unemployed.

The survey blamed lengthened working hours and slackened manufacturing operations for the job losses.

"How much of this employment loss is due to the lengthening of work hours it is not yet possible to tell," the survey said.

"It seems probable that longer hours have been a factor, for records covering the months from July to December, 1935, show that the work week in industry generally has been lengthened by three hours and that as a consequence more than 1,000,000 jobs were lost.

"Undoubtedly, this movement to lengthen hours instead of employing men, which followed termination of NRA, has continued into January and accounts in part for the present situation.

"Another important factor was the slackening of manufacturing operations in January this year. When industry operates without control every decline in operations means a loss of thousands of jobs. Manufacturing industries this year laid off 130,000, while in January 1935, they took on 13,000."

Americans Seek Dalmatian Cheese

Split, Yugoslavia (AP).—Yugoslavs in the United States are consuming the entire production of sheep cheese made on the little islands of Oib, Silba and Molat, along the Adriatic coast of Dalmatia.

The inhabitants of the islands have formed a cooperative to produce a special kind of cheese obtained from native sheep crossed with Spanish merino. They have found a ready market among the Yugoslav owners of restaurants in America for their product at about 5 cents a pound.

The output at present is small, the cooperative owning only about 1,500 sheep.

William V. Breslin, of Englewood, Mrs. Hewitt's attorney, will be the only guest permitted. Mrs. Hewitt has been charged with attempting suicide by Jersey

Chinese Railroad Overcomes Hazards

Nanking (AP).—The Americans who blazed the trail of the "iron horse" across the plains and mountains of the Wild West faced no greater dangers than those overcome by the men who have just completed the first railroad in China to be surveyed, engineered and financed entirely by Chinese.

None of these modern Chinese railroad pioneers bit the dust with Indian arrows quivering in their breast, but 100 of their number were killed by bandit bullets and 1,000 died of disease before the line was ready from Kiangse province in the heart of central China to Shanghai on the coast.

So great was the bandit menace in 1934, when road and chainmen set out to survey the right of way across the mountains of Chekiang and Kiangse provinces, that block houses had to be built.

Postal Union Cuts Rates of Nations

Belgrade (AP).—As the result of negotiations lasting nearly a year and agreements signed here in the capital of Yugoslavia, states of the Little Entente and the Balkan pact put in force on January 1 a postal federation similar to the Pan-American and the Spanish postal unions.

It affects Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Greece and Turkey.

A reduction of postal rates among the signers of the union has been effected. Standing committees in each capital will study postal, telegraph, telephone and radio problems.

In the future the states will participate as a unit in international postal discussions.

ROME IS READY TO TALK PEACE

Early Settlement of Ethiopian Conflict Hoped for by Many Leaders.

Paris, March 2 (AP).—Official sources said Sunday night Italy had indicated to France a willingness to negotiate for termination of the Ethiopian war.

The negotiations, it was stated, would be based on Italy's recent victories on both the northern and southern fronts.

In French circles it was said the Government was "undecided" whether the reported indication of willingness to talk peace was given by Premier Benito Mussolini in order to express his real desires or simply to prevent an increase in sanctions against Italy.

Flandin To Ask League To Act

However, France's Foreign Minister, Pierre-Etienne Flandin, is ready to ask the League of Nations to resume its efforts to end the Italo-Ethiopian war, it was said in informed circles.

These sources said Flandin will attempt to get Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, to renounce Britain's "leanings" toward an oil embargo against Italy in the belief the time is "ripe for peace negotiations."

Committee To Meet Today

"Everything will depend upon their private conversations in Geneva today," one official said. A League committee on sanctions meets today to decide whether an oil boycott will be adopted.

Observers pointed out that if Eden insists upon an oil embargo and other nations agree France must keep her pledge to the League and follow.

French observers believe the African war must be quickly settled if trade and the building of defenses against Nazi Germany are to go ahead.

Cite Three Favorable Factors

Diplomats assert a serious effort to end the African war will be made with the approach of Ethiopia's rainy season, ending military operations until the fall. They hold negotiations have good chances of success because:

1. Premier Mussolini's armies have scored several victories against Emperor Haile Selassie's troops at Addis Ababa as well "avenged."
2. Great Britain and France want to turn their attention to Germany's growing armies. They realize Italy's cooperation is essential in the long run to assure Austria's independence.
3. Composition of the present Paris and London governments permits of serious negotiations now that Pierre Laval and Sir Samuel Hoare have followed their peace plan into retirement.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

Hollywood—About Cesar Romero, a Latin who has proved he wants none of the "second Valentino" exploitation:

His full name is Cesar Julio Romero, the Spanish form of Julius Caesar. . . . His family liked famous names, but did not dream this son would get a share of fame in the celluloid world. . . . The name used to be a source of embarrassment when he was a schoolboy in New York, because the other kids would always titter when it was called.

Cesar Romero is a New Yorker by birth, Cuban by descent. . . . His mother was Maria Mantilla, Cuban concert singer; his father Cesar Romero, which makes him a junior. . . . His mother's uncle, Jose Marti, is noted in Cuban history. . . . Cesar was born February 15, 1907. . . . He is 6 feet two inches tall, weighs 170 pounds. . . . and thinks he should weigh more, but can't gain. . . . He has black hair and dark brown eyes, and that "sleek foreign look" which once was sufficient in itself to assure screen success. . . .

Like Valentino and George Raft, he began theatrically as a dancer. . . . He was working in a New York bank when Lisbeth Higgins, a society girl with dancing ambitions, chose him as a partner. . . . He danced (with her and other partners) in clubs, roof gardens and shows. . . . He danced in "Lady, Do!" in 1927 and was in "Street Singer."

He got his "big break" when he took Tullio Carminatti's role in the road show of "Strictly Dishonorable." . . . Cesar Romero appeared in several other plays, including "Dinner at Eight" before Metro signed him for "The Thin Man," a comparatively minor role at that. . . . He was ready to go back to New York when Universal made a test and signed him. . . .

He has made most of his pictures, however, at other studios. . . . Now he is romantically opposite Carole Lombard in "Love Before Breakfast." . . . Despite his appearance and the interest of women fans, his best role was as a "heavy" in "Show Them No Mercy." . . .

BELIEVES CHICAGO BABY IS WORLD'S SMALLEST

Chicago, March 2 (AP).—Birth of a baby which Dr. Edward P. King said he believed was the world's smallest was reported Friday, forty-five days after the event.

The child was too tiny to weigh on its arrival at St. Anne's Hospital on January 14, the physician said, but he estimated the birth weight at twelve ounces. The infant now weighs two pounds and two ounces.

A printer's daughter, the child was christened Jacqueline Jean Benson, and is now getting along "very fine," the doctor declared. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Benson. If Dr. King was right in his twelve-ounce estimate, the baby was the tiniest ever recorded, records at the American Medical Association showed.

THE BOOMERANG CLUE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS: At last Bobby Jones and Frankie Derwent have learned, with the help of their friend, Badger, that Roger Bassington-French is the villain of the mysterious murder of Alan Carstairs. And they have him securely bound on the floor of his cottage in Chipping Somerton. But they do not know where Moira Nicholson is, and they do not have proof that will convict Roger before a jury. Roger is quietly laughing at them from his uncomfortable position on the floor.

Chapter 40

MOIRA

Nobody had as yet evolved any plans. Bobby rather doubtfully murmured something about police.

"Much the best thing to do," said Roger cheerfully. "Ring them up and hand me over to them. The charge will be abduction, I suppose. I can't very well deny that." He looked at Frankie. "I shall plead a guilty passion."

Frankie reddened. "What about murder?" she asked.

"My dear, you haven't any evidence. Positively none. Think it over and you'll see you haven't."

"Badger," said Bobby, "you'd better stay here and keep an eye on him. I'll go down and ring up the police."

"You'd better be careful," said Frankie. "We don't know how many of them there may be in the house."

"No one but me," said Roger. "I was carrying this through single-handed."

Bobby bent over and tested the knots.

"He's all right," he said. "Safe as houses. We'd better all go down together. We can lock the door."

"Terribly distrustful, aren't you, my dear chap?" said Roger. "There's a pistol in my pocket if you'd like it. It may make you feel happier, and it's certainly no good to me in my present position."

Bobby bent down and extracted the weapon.

"Kind of you to mention it," he said. "If you want to know, it does make me feel happier."

Bobby took the candle and they filed out of the attic, leaving Roger lying on the floor. Bobby locked the door and put the key in his pocket. He held the pistol in his hand.

"I'll go first," he said. "We've got to be quite sure and not make a mess of things now."

A rather rickety flight of steps led down to the main landing. Everything was quiet. Bobby looked over the banisters. The telephone was in the hall below.

"We'd better look into these rooms first," he said. "We don't want to be taken in the rear."

Badger flung open each door in turn. Of the four bedrooms, three were empty. In the fourth a slender figure was lying on the bed.

"It's Moira," cried Frankie. The others crowded in. Moira was lying like one dead except that her breast moved up and down ever so slightly.

"She's drugged, I think," said Frankie.

She looked round. A hypodermic syringe lay on a little enamel tray on a table near the window.

"She'll be all right, I think," she said. "But we ought to get a doctor."

"Let's go down and telephone," said Bobby.

They adjourned to the hall below. They got through to the police station quite easily, but found a good deal of difficulty in explaining matters. The local police were highly disposed to regard the summons as a practical joke.

However, they were convinced at last, and Bobby replaced the receiver with a sigh. He had explained that they also wanted a doctor, and the police constable promised to bring one along.

Ten minutes later a car arrived with an inspector, a constable and an elderly man who had his profession stamped all over him.

Bobby led the way to the attic—then stood dumbfounded in the doorway. In the middle of the floor was a heap of severed ropes. Underneath the broken skylight a chair had been placed on the bed which had been dragged out till it was under the skylight.

Of Roger Bassington-French there was no sign.

"He must have had a knife in his pocket," said Frankie.

"Even then, how could he get at it? Both hands were bound together behind his back."

The inspector coughed. All his former doubts had returned. He was more strongly disposed than ever to regard the whole thing as a hoax.

The doctor was their salvation. He declared at once that Moira had been drugged with morphia or some preparation of opium. He did not consider her condition serious and thought she would awake naturally in four or five hours' time.

He suggested taking her off then and there to a good nursing home in the neighborhood.

To this Bobby and Frankie agreed, not seeing what else could be done. Having given their own names and addresses to the inspector, who appeared to disbelieve utterly in Frankie's, they themselves were allowed to leave Tudor Cottage, and with the assistance of the inspector succeeded in gaining admission to the "Seven Stars" in the village.

Here, still feeling that they were regarded as criminals, they were only too thankful to go to their rooms, a double one for Bobby and Badger, and a very minute single one for Frankie.

A few minutes after they had all retired, a knock came on Bobby's door. It was Frankie.

"I've thought of something," she said. "If that fool of a police inspector persists in thinking that we made all this up, at any rate I've got evidence that I was chloroformed."

"Have you? Where?"

"In the coal-bucket," said Frankie with decision.

Exhausted by all her adventures, Frankie slept late the next morning. It was half-past ten when she came down to the small coffee-room to find Bobby waiting for her.

"Hullo, Frankie, here you are at last."

"Don't be so horribly vigorous, my dear," Frankie subsided onto a chair.

"It must be the sandbagging," said Bobby. "It's probably broken up adhesions in the brain. I feel absolutely full of pep and vim and bright ideas and a longing to dash out and do things."

"Well, why not dash?" said Frankie languidly.

"I have dashed. I've been with Inspector Hammond for the last half hour. We'll have to let it go as a practical joke, Frankie, for the moment."

"Oh, but, Bobby—"

"I said for the moment. We've got to get to the bottom of this, Frankie. We're on the right spot and all we've got to do is to get down to it. We don't want Roger Bassington-French for abduction. We want him for murder."

"And we'll get him," said Frankie with a revival of spirit.

"That's more like it," said Bobby approvingly. "Drink some more tea."

"How's Moira?"

"Pretty bad. She came round in the most awful state of nerves. Scared stiff apparently. She's gone up to London—to a nursing home place in Queen's Gate. She says she'll feel safe there."

"She never did have much nerve," said Frankie.

"Well, anyone might be scared stiff with a queer cold-blooded murderer like Roger Bassington-French loose in the neighborhood."

"He doesn't want to murder her. We're the ones he's after."

"He's probably too busy taking care of himself to worry about us for the moment," said Bobby. "Now, Frankie, the start of the whole thing must be John Savage's death and will. Either that will be forged or Savage was murdered or something."

"It's quite likely the will was forged if Bassington-French was concerned," said Frankie thoughtfully.

"It may have been forgery and murder. We've got to find out."

Frankie nodded. "I've got the notes I made after looking at the will. The witnesses were Rose Chudleigh, cook, and Albert Mere, gardener. They ought to be quite easy to find. Then there are the lawyers who drew it up—Elford & Leigh—a very respectable firm, as Mr. Sprague said."

"Right, we'll start from there. I think you'd better take the lawyers. You'll get more out of them than I would. I'll hunt up Rose Chudleigh and Albert Mere."

"What about Badger?"

"Badger never gets up till lunch time—you needn't worry about him."

"We must get his affairs straightened out for him some time," said Frankie. "After all, he did save my life."

"They'll soon get tangled again," said Bobby. "Oh, by the way, what do you think of this?"

He held out a dirty piece of cardboard for her inspection. It was a photograph.

"Mr. Cayman," said Frankie immediately. "Where did you get it?"

"Last night. It had slipped down behind the telephone."

"Then it seems pretty clear who Mr. and Mrs. Templeton were. Wait a minute."

Gettysburg college's Orange and Blue dribblers face two crucial battles this week—the stiffest test a Bullet cage squad has been subjected to in many years.

Holding undisputed possession of second place in the Eastern Pennsylvania collegiate basketball league, the men-of-Bream can spring into a tie for the league title—which will require a play-off with F. and M., on a neutral floor—or they may be displaced from their second place post and booted into third position.

If the Bullets can win their two remaining league battles the League lead will be knotted with ten victories and two defeats each for the Bullets and the Possums.

If the Bullets lose to Albright here Wednesday and Lions turn back Lebanon Valley in their final league encounter the best Gettysburg can hope for will be a tie for second place, IF they defeat F. and M. on the latter's court Friday night.

The test for the Bullets is this—they MUST beat Albright here Wednesday night and whip F. and M., at Lancaster, Friday night. That is the objective Coach Bream and proteges are aiming for.

The Albright five has staged a sensational winning streak in re-tempted escape Friday of three Ohio Penitentiary prisoners who sought to break through a vehicle stockade entrance.

Warden James C. Woodard said the prisoners were Edmund Pawlinski, of Lucas county, and Joseph Plikowski and John Davis of Cuyahoga county. None of the convicts were wounded.

Guard August Light, stationed atop a wall surrounding the prison, fired several shots as the men broke through an inner gate.

PLANS TO ENCOURAGE LEAP YEAR MARRIAGES

Boston, March 2 (AP)—A bill to encourage leap year marriages was filed in the State House of Representatives Friday. The measure would eliminate during June or leap year payment of the $2 fee charged couples who filed notice of intention to marry.

"Women are evidently not exercising their traditional prerogatives of proposing to a man in leap year," Representative George Demeter said in filing the bill. Demeter is a bachelor.

California houses hundreds of its insane on model farms, run in connection with asylums.

cent weeks and is considered by cage experts as the best club in the League today. Dopesters give them a three to two edge over F. and M. by virtue of their 37-34 victory over the Possums at Reading ten days ago.

Gettysburg will be at a disadvantage in the F. and M. contest. The locals are accustomed to a large floor, whereas the Franklin-Marshall court is small and the Possums are rangy and fast.

Wednesday's clash here should be the best game of the season, and the Bullets realize that they are up against a stiff proposition. If they can hurdle this obstacle with a victory the league lead will hinge on the outcome of their Friday's encounter at Lancaster.

FLOOD BLOCKS TWO HIGHWAYS

William Penn and Susquehanna Roads Inundated; Motorists Stalled.

Duncannon, Pa., March 2.—The Susquehanna river ice heretofore unbroken, Sunday evening moved about a quarter mile where it again came to a standstill. Sunday night water was entering streets and properties in Duncannon borough. The borough had not contained any flood water until Sunday.

A gorge five miles long at the mouth of the Juniata river continued to flood a large area north of town Sunday. The water stayed at about the same height all day. Dynamite blasts were made in an effort to break the gorge. Automobiles jammed all highways as persons from many miles around came to view the spectacle.

The William Penn highway and the Susquehanna trail were impassable at Amity Hall, where the Juniata found an old course to the Susquehanna river. Years ago a stream flowed from the Susquehanna to the Juniata at this point.

Amity Hall Is Flooded
Route 33, which connects Clarks ferry and Duncannon, is closed at the west end of the Juniata river bridge, where a stream 300 yards wide is flowing from the icebound Juniata to the Susquehanna.

The Harrisburg Clark ferry road is closed east of Clarks ferry bridge, as the flood has made the road unsafe.

The flood waters are up to the door of Amity Hall Inn, a century old, and its luncheon contains four inches of water. Its office building has been undermined.

State highways nearby have also been undermined and covered with three feet of water, while cottages have been ruined.

ERROR COSTLY TO FAIRFIELD

Coach Elmore Slaybaugh's Team Loses When Official Scores Disagree.

Fairfield high school dropped a questionable 24-22 decision to Stoyestown high at Fairfield Saturday evening.

The mixup occurred in the fading minutes of the game when a foul was called upon a Stoyestown player just as another Stoyestown player caged a goal. Officially the goal was nullified but one of the scorers became confused and recorded the basket. Donaldson made good his charity toss and each team scored two more points before the game ended. The teams left the floor believing the score to be 24-22, but a checkup between the scorers revealed the mistake. Resumption of play being impossible it was decided to allow the score to stand as recorded in the Stoyestown book.

Two games were played previous to the varsity scrap. A Waynesboro girls' team defeated the Fairfield high girls, 31-11, while the Fairfield boys' reserve team lost to the Harrisburg Eagles, 29-20.

The Arendtsville vocational school cagers will play at Fairfield Tuesday evening.

This story will interest many Men and Women

NOT long ago I was like some friends I have... low in spirits... run-down... out of sorts... tired easily and looked terrible. I knew I had no serious organic trouble so I reasoned sensibly... as my experience has since proven... that work, worry, colds and whatnot had just worn me down.

The confidence mother has always had in S.S.S. Tonic... which is still her stand-by when she feels run-down... convinced me I ought to try this Treatment... I started a course... the color began to come back to my skin... I felt better... I no longer tired easily and soon I felt that those red-blood-cells were back to so-called fighting strength... it is great to feel strong again and like my old self. © S.S.S. Co.

An Evening Thought Climb the mountains and get their good tidings. Nature's peace will flow into you as sunshine flows into trees. The winds will blow their own freshness into you, and the storms their energy, while cares will drop away from you like the leaves of Autumn—John Muir.

Out of the Past Happenings of days gone by as chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg
Times the files reveal.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO
We have received for publication from an old and much respected subscriber, an article upon the Thompsonian practice of medicine.
We would go very far to oblige our friend, if we could do it consistently with our notions upon these subjects, but we think a discussion of the merits of particular systems of medical practice, would be as objectionable in a paper of the character of ours, as would be a discussion upon the different religious systems.
It is with regret, therefore, that we feel ourselves compelled to decline the publication of the article in question, and we trust our friend will feel the propriety of our cause.

Married.—On the 18th inst., by the Rev. William Paxton, D. D., John Armstrong, of Franklin county, to Miss Jane E. Lelper, of Liberty township, Adams county.

On the 25th, by the Rev. Mr.
Ruthrauff, Henry Lower to Miss Hannah Dotterow, both of Menallen township.

On the 3d, by the Rev. D. Gottwald, Jacob Gottwald to Miss Sally Melhorn, both of York county.

On the 21st by the same, David Little to Miss Leah Blaser, both of this county.

On the 25th, by the same, Martin
Thomas to Miss Susanna Eicholtz, both of this county.

The boundary quarrel between Ohio and Michigan, it appears, is not yet quieted, and there has been another collision between the authorities on the borders, which is likely to lead to serious consequences. Congress ought promptly to settle the question.

Died.—Yesterday morning suddenly, George Henry, son of Ezekiel Buckingham, aged about 6 years.

A bill was reported in the legislature on the 20th inst., to remove the seat of government of this state from Harrisburg to Philadelphia.
We learn that there is a strong feeling in its favor among the members.

The "Phrenokosmian Society" of Pennsylvania college celebrated its anniversary on the evening of the 22d in the Presbyterian church. Addresses were delivered by Mr. Keyser, D. G. Barnitz and James Cooper, Esq., which are very highly spoken of. The audience was large, and all, we believe, were much gratified with the exercises.

Mr. Stevens' bill, making masonry and oddfellowship a good cause for challenging a juror in trials where one of the parties is a Mason or Odd-Fellow, passed the house of representatives on the 18th inst., 44 to 431. And this by men pretending to be battling for equal rights and equal privileges! The Constitution guarantees such rights to us—yet our modern reformers are above the constitution and legislate them away!

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

pensation of Divine Providence, in cation of the paper has been delayed for several days.

E. Overholzer, of Liberty township.
On the 28th ult., by the same, J.
A. C. Rindlaub, of Straban township, to Miss Elmira M. J. Ecken-rode, of Mountpleasant township.

On the 21st inst., at the residence of Adam Butt, in Cumberland township, by the Rev. T. P. Bucher,
John H. Eckert to Miss Julia H.
Butt.
On the 19th inst., by Rev. P. Raby,

Jacob Hanes to Miss Eliza Geigh, both of Adams county.

On the 26th inst., by Rev. M.

Franklin county, to Miss Rebecca Hoff, of Adams county.

On the 11th inst., by the Rev.
Basel A. Shorb, Nicholas Baker, of this place, to Miss Catharine M.
Rohlman, of Franklin township.

We took occasion a few days ago to visit the beautiful sky-light gallery of the Messrs. Tyson, opposite the bank, and were certainly pleased with the whole arrangement of their new and pleasant rooms. It is quite an interesting place to visit.
The great variety of the "human face divine," which adorns every part of the establishment, is worth an hour's delightful examination.
We had no idea, until we saw the many familiar faces grouped around, that the gentlemanly Tysons had been so liberally patronized; but when we reflected a moment, we wondered not, as they made such beautiful and life-like portraits. One picture struck us at once as we entered their beautiful reception room—that of our old and esteemed companion and friend, John B. McPherson, Esq. It is a life size portrait, produced from a small daguerrotype likeness, and finished in oil, making a beautiful picture, and evincing a high degree of skill on the part of the Tysons. The friends of the deceased are requested to call and see it, as also to view the elegantly arranged excelsior establishment.

Died.—On Tuesday morning last, at the residence of the Editor of this paper, his mother, Mrs. Priscilla Cobean, aged 84 years. She has been a resident of Gettysburg for more than three score years, and during her long life, an active and efficient member of the Presbyterian church—ever having the full confidence, and kind wishes and feelings of the various pastors who have had charge of the church of her early education and her communion since the budding of her youth.

On Wednesday last, at the residence of her brother, in this place, Miss Hettie E. McCreary, aged 42 years.

WINTER CONTRAST

They grumbled at the wintry weather
Who were so richly gowned,
And yet their feet in solid leather
Had never touched the ground.
And though the wind blew bitterness
All day along the street,
They'd but a small device to press
To ride in summer heat.

They stood in groups and sadly muttered
Harsh words about the storm.
Nearby a radiator sputtered
Keeping the hallway warm.
Safe-sheltered, snug and all serene
They rode the blizzard through,
And just how cruel it had been
Not one among them knew.

That day along the streets went many Deep to the marrow chilled, Seeking to earn the precious penny
By which man's wants are filled.
Heads down against the wind they stumbled Battling the swirling snow;
That pain, of which the others
grumbled,
Theirs every hour to know!

He was riding one the other day, his feet caught in the stirrup, and he was dragged along.

Undaunted, he went horseback riding the next day, and fell to the street. Three automobiles ran over him. Luckily, all drivers managed to straddle their cars over his body.

Today's Talk
—By George Matthew Adams—
IF YOU HAVE TO WORRY

HALF the ills of mankind would be corrected, I dare say, if only people would not worry.

A friend tells me of a chap who was wearing himself to shreds through worry. One day he woke up to its baneful influence and had a talk with himself, and it was something like this: "Look here, Bill, you are a chump. You worry night and day. You worry about notes not yet due, about bills not yet rendered, about your children's welfare, about your family's health, about your business. You are not doing a good job about it all, either.

"Now then, concentrate. Set aside the hour right after dinner just for worrying. Let nothing keep you from it. Make it your worrying hour. If a worry comes up in the day, stop at once and say that it must wait until the worrying hour. Make a note of the thing and cram it into that after-dinner appointed time. If anyone calls you up, and wants you for a game of bridge, or some other affair, just say that you can't be disturbed—you must have your worry hour!"

Needless to say that that chap broke himself of his worrying, got his regular sleep back, became a better companion to his friends, and forged ahead in his business. He learned the valuable lesson that the past is something that will never return for it is gone, and that the future is never yet arrived, so, therefore is also no fruitful field for worrying. And so that man is now a happy human being.

There is no use worrying unless you can make a grand success of it.
As yet I have never heard of one who has successfully worried! I have known plenty who have made a failure of life through worrying.

Worry is all selfishness. It never gives anything. It keeps taking away, keeps robbing and killing. Like a termite, it works silently 24 hours a day—destroying.

Marian Martin Slip And Pantie Set
A "Must Have" For Sheer Frocks

PATTERN 9662

Ten to one, you'll be needing a fresh supply of slips for your new Spring frocks, which, growing more sheer as the thermometer rises, demand as dainty a foundation as you can give them. No reason, either, why you shouldn't make up several slips like this, with panties to match, for their minimum yardage proves them a money saver, while their few pattern pieces say easy making in every seam. The slip, with fitted bra-top and non-slip straps cut in one piece, is your assurance that your most closely fitting frock will lie smooth, minus bulge or wrinkle. Waist-yoke panties in wash satin, crepe or non-shrinkable rayon, match the slip.
Complete, diagrammed Marian Mar-

MORROW'S SON REPORTS

PERSONAL PAPERS GONE

Boston, March 2 (AP).—State police said Sunday night they were investigating the loss of personal papers reported by Dwight Morrow, Jr., son of the late Senator Dwight Morrow of New Jersey, and brother-in-law of Charles A. Lindbergh.

Young Morrow is a graduate stu-told police he was "under the impression" that certain papers he had left on his bureau were missing when he returned after a week-end absence two weeks ago.

Toledo, Ohio, March 2 (AP).—

daughters Friday by his wife, who

"I'm glad they're three of a kind," remarked the father. "I was, the only boy in my set."

Dr. I. E. Hunter said the trio arrived within 30 minutes. The first weighed 4 pounds 6 ounces, the second, born 10 minutes later, weighed 6 pounds, and the third weighed 4 pounds 9 ounces.

$15,000,000 Birthday Party
To Be Opened By Texas Today

Old Washington-on-the-Brazos, Texas, arch 2 (AP).—This village of 250 opened a $15,000,000 birthday party today for the largest state in the union.

The eyes of 2,000,000 Texans was focused upon it. For this Southeastern Texas town was the scene March 2, 1836, of the signing of the declaration of independence from Mexico.

Today Governors James V. Allred, of Texas, and Philip La Follette of Wisconsin, paid tribute here to the group of fifty-eight leaders who braved the wrath of the Santa Anna to write:

"The people of Texas do now constitute a free, sovereign and independent republic."

The celebration started Texas on a widespread series of observances, the most costly and elaborate of which will be the big centennial exposition opening at Dallas June 6.

SUPPOSED DEATH RAZOR
FOUND IN PRISON CELL

Joliet, Ill., Mar. 2 (AP)—Warden
Joseph Ragen, of the State prison, Friday disclosed guards had found a razor similar in type to the one used by James Day in the killing, January 28, of Richard Loeb, 1924 "thrill" killer of Bobby Franks, of Chicago.

The razor was concealed in a mattress in the cell of T. McCarthy, committed from Chicago to serve ten years to life for robbery. It was one of several that disappeared from the prison barber shop two years ago. McCarthy was placed in solitary confinement.

Day, who turned over to the authorities the razor with which he killed Loeb, is under indictment on a murder charge, awaiting trial
March 9.

RELIEVES COLDS WITHOUT "DOSING"

After speeches here the two gov-

Gov. Hill McAllister, of Tennessee, which Houston once served as gov-memorial services.

Governor Allred accepted in the name of the state the old "steamboat house," where Houston died.

Four days later, Allred and Mc-Allister will lead the observance in San Antonio of the fall of the cradle of Texas liberty—the Alamo, where a trapped band of 187 men fought the enemy viciously before they were massacred by 6,000 Mexican troops.

Hundreds of Texas cities—Goliad, where Colonel Fannin and his forces fell in a massacre; Gonzales, the Lexington of Texas, and other cities —will take the celebration here as their cue and begin the Lone Star state's yearlong hundredth birthday anniversary.

GET RID OF COLDS-QUICK

Swifter in action is Aspirin—30% more powerful than old fashioned rubs—yet harmless and pleasant. Your druggist will tell you that inexpensive Aspirin penetrates speedily—it is antiseptic—stainless—vaporizing.

Rub it on that sore tight chest tonight—and as you sleep soundly this amazing new discovery—reinforced with pure active aspirin—soaks right in.

Tomorrow awake with dangerous congestion broken up—phlegm loosened up—the heavy breathing is gone—your tough old dangerous cold is on its way out—if not money back—It's just as good for head colds and intensely irritated throat—Aspirin your cold away.

"Hurrah for the HALIBUT"

WELL may you cheer this grand old fish. It's done you a right good turn. Scientists have found that oil of the halibut liver is by far the richest known source of Vitamins A and D. This means that those who need an added store of these vital vitamins can be supplied with much smaller doses (a few drops instead of spoonfuls, as in the case of cod liver oil). The pioneer product, Abbott's Halibut Oil (Plain or with Viosterol) is available here, in either liquid or convenient capsules. Ask your Doctor about Abbott's Halibut Oil.

U. S. SAVES ON MAIL AWARDS

Speed Tests Given Vessels Result in Reduction of Old Rates.

Washington, March 2 (AP)—Postal officials reported Friday the administration was saving millions through speed tests given vessels operating under existing ocean mail contracts.

Their statement coincided with another conference of postoffice and commerce department experts striving to break an impasse which has blocked legislation for a new program of outright ship subsidies.

There was no indication when or if an agreement would be reached, although President Roosevelt appeared to be exerting pressure to push through an acceptable bill at this session.

Speed Tests Followed Probe The speed tests were ordered after last year's postoffice department investigation of ocean mail contracts, which, officials said, disclosed that many ships were receiving higher mileage rates than they were entitled.

Already, thirty ships of the 300 or so carrying the mail have been reclassified and their pay rate reduced. These reductions alone amount to more than $7,000,000 on the total life of the contracts.

The rate is fixed according to the speed and tonnage of a ship. A Class 2 ship, for instance, must be of 16,000 gross tonnage and capable of twenty knots an hour in ordinary weather to receive $10 a mile.

A Class 6 vessel—most of those carrying the mail are of that type—must be of 4,900 gross tonnage and capable of ten knots to receive $2.50 a mile.

The postoffice investigation showed

One Leaf All Night Club Eve Needs For Decency, Court Rules

New York, March 2 (AP).—Magistrate Anthony F. Burke ruled Friday there is nothing indecent about the spectacle of a night-club "Eve" discarding all but one of her three leaves.

After hearing the highly descriptive testimony of a policeman who said he had "good eyesight" and "plenty of experience," Magistrate Burke held that the revue was a "high-class show."

Accordingly, he dismissed a complaint against Carl M. Snyder and Charles F. Harring, manager and vice-president of the place, respectively, who had been charged with staging an indecent performance.

There was much blushing and titling in the courtroom when Patrolman Francis Hunt told of watching girls cavort about the night club's stage with practically nothing on.

Hunt said he considered himself rather an expert in such matters because he had taken part in a great many burlesque house raids.

One of the scenes he considered objectionable, he said, was the one called "Eve" descending a Staircase, in which the heroine is clothed in three maple leaves.

"Maple leaves?" asked Magistrate Burke.

"Yes, your honor, maple leaves," said Patrolman Hunt.

He said that many ships had been accepted as being in Class 4—$6 a mile—and Class 5—$4 a mile—when they were really only Class 6 vessels.

So the postoffice ordered the ship owners to undergo the speed tests over a measured mile fully loaded with the result that so far savings of $1,758,936 are being made on an annual basis.

Among the companies whose pay rate has been cut are the United States Lines, Dollar Steamship Lines, Munson Steamship Lines, Lykes Brothers Steamship Company, American Mail Line, Mississippi Shipping Company and the Waterman Steamship Company.

Under the proposed new subsidy system the contract would be scrapped and the shipping companies given direct grants to enable them to meet lower operating and construction costs of foreign competitors.

THESE FACTS ABOUT BRAN HAVE BEEN PROVED BY TESTS

Supplies Gently Acting "Bulk" to Aid Regular Habits

Now and then, in talking with your friends, the subject of bran has come up. So that real facts might replace unsupported opinions, the Kellogg Company has aided for some years research in leading nutrition laboratories.

Studies made on a group of healthy women showed that two tablespoonfuls of bran daily continued to relieve constipation over a period of months. How different from cathartics—where dosage often must be increased.

Another series of tests on men indicated that, with some people, the "bulk" in bran was much more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Further tests showed that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provided vitamin B and iron as well as "bulk." This "bulk" absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system—the right way to correct constipation.

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Either as a cereal, with milk or cream, or in cooked dishes. It is a natural laxative food. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk."
